Befitting Service On Memorial Day For Soldier Dead

Fine Parade and Speeches On Sunday Afternoon are Provided

Services befitting to the removal this week of Antioch's service board were conducted Sunday afternoon through the auspices of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

What was probably the best Memorial Day parade in years was staged before the services at the park. The school band, the drum and bugle corps provided stirring music for the marching of the service organizations and civic groups.

The 14 members of the Antioch Rescue squad appearing for the first time in their new uniforms attracted attention and applause along with the veterans and firemen.

Edward C. Jacobs, as master of ceremonies, introduced the leaders of the veterans organizations and auxiliaries who placed wreaths in respect to the unidentified soldier.

Maj. Brewster Speaks

Major Francis T. Brewster of the Fifth Army corps, first of the speakers, said that the deeds of those who had lost their lives in battle would speak more loudly and with greater effect than any eulogy that might be spoken on the occasion of Memorial Day.

Attorney Clarence W. Diver, Waukegan, as the second speaker, said it is the duty of citizens today to protect the heritage for which men have given their lives.

"We need not fear the enemy from without as much as from within," said Mr. Diver. "It is the fifth columnist, the selfish interests which would destroy us, not Russian armies."

Must Preserve Rights

After giving a resume of American struggles for freedom, Mr. Diver showed that the last great experiment of God in a new land of vast resources had been productive of a freedom of opportunity that has placed this country ahead of all others.

"The Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States have over the years served as a sheet anchor in keeping this country from drifting to dictatorship," the speaker said.

"What is written on paper is perishable, but what is written in the hearts of the people will not," he said.

Following the veiling of the service board, announcement was made that a tablet bearing the names of six Antioch men who died in service during World War II will be set up on V-J Day.

Taps and the salute by the firing squad, always impressive, closed the program.

During the forenoon the Legion and V. F. W. aided Lake Villa in Memorial services there. Mrs. A. Nelson, a gold star mother, placed the wreath. Maj. Brewster also spoke there.

Antioch to Play Silver Lake Here Next Sunday; Lost to Zion Here 6 to 5

Antioch's baseball team will play Silver Lake here Sunday afternoon in what is expected to be a good game. Play will start at 2 p. m. at the diamond back of the high school.

The team lost to Zion last Sunday, 6 to 5. Roy Bushing didn't allow a hit the first four innings and kept the nine hits for the entire game scattered, four errors in the fifth gave the Zion team a five-run advantage which the local players could not overcome.

Bernie Schneider with two triples and a double in four times at bat helped materially in Antioch's scoring in the sixth and seventh innings.

Village Will Dispose Of Unused Lot No. 10

The village will sell to the highest bidder lot No. 10 in the Charles R. Thorn subdivision.

Bids will be open on July 6 and the lot will go to the highest cash bidder.

The lot lost its use by the village after it was decided to use Ida ave., in crossing the Soo line tracks to the village park instead of re-opening the crossing formerly used by Thorn who sold the property to the village.

It is an excellent location as a residential lot.

The village was notified that the Soo Line is in the process of providing an easement across the tracks on Ida ave.

Frame of Scout Home To Be Constructed in Preparation for "Bee"

Volunteers for Saturday of This Week Needed as Well as Next

Volunteers in carpentering are sought for Saturday of this week for the new Scout home in preparation for the "raising bee" on the following Saturday, June 12.

An attempt will be made this week to have the frame ready for the larger group who will go into action next week in completing much of the building.

Roman Vos of the Antioch Lumber Co., is the expediter on materials working with Emil Hallways the general contractor.

A record of every hour contributed in the construction of the building is being kept and the volunteers will at the close be given credit for it. Already much time has been given by some parents and friends of the scouts in the placing of the footing and basement. From now on it will be a matter of putting up the frame and attaching the covering.

Those who wish to help either this Saturday or next Saturday are asked to inform the Antioch News, phone 43.

Village Seeks Bids for Plumbing and Wiring Of New Fire Station

Widening of South Main St. To Be Discussed in Elgin Today

The village board is seeking bids for the plumbing and wiring of the new fire station and will meet in special session Monday evening to open them and let the contract.

While the general contractor, Ed Kidera, would have liked to have these contracts let earlier so that his work would not be delayed, the trustees thought that prospective bidders didn't have enough time and the plan had not been advertised enough when they met Tuesday night.

It was considered by the trustees that the work of putting in the forms and footings would keep the present work in progress until the other two contracts have been let.

President George Bartlett and Trustee Walter Scott went to Elgin today to confer with state highway officials on the widening of Main street a short distance south of the Lake st intersection to Quality st.

Complaint that the growth of the business district south makes parking there necessary and when there is parking on both sides of the street there isn't enough room for two lane traffic.

While at Elgin the two officials will discuss other street improvement matters. Trustee Merrill Cunningham and his committee were instructed to proceed with the oiling of some of the streets.

Several minor problems occupied the attention of the trustees. A committee was instructed to investigate the drainage fault at the Catholic church to ascertain whether the village is negligent or not. Poor drainage has caused the basement flooring of the church to buckle.

Approval was given for a new fire hydrant at the Warriner subdivision, and consideration was given to an emergency water inlet to the Burgess Battery plant.

The trustees indulged in much bantering and discussion over the purchase of new tires for a village truck. What became of the old tires for the fire truck was the question.

The bond and interest money left from the purchase of the old hotel property for the present fire station site was transferred to the new bond and interest fund to meet current interest payments.

Economic Highlights

The main purpose of any military force, naturally, is to fight if it has to, and to maintain itself in a state of constant readiness for whatever is to come. However, on occasion, the fighting arms can be used as an instrument of high diplomacy as well. They can implement and advance, by purely peaceful means, the policies decided upon in Washington in this time of delicate international balance.

As everyone knows, military figures have been called upon to fill a number of positions of vast importance, which normally would be held by civilians. General Smith, who was Eisenhower's brilliant Chief of Staff, represents us in Moscow. General Marshall, the architect of our war strategy, holds the most vital and most difficult job in the nation next to the Presidency. General Clay carries the burden of responsibility for us in Germany. General MacArthur is practically all-powerful in Japan. Officers of the U. S. Navy have been entrusted with the complex task of administering the Pacific Islands and strengthening the primitive economies of their peoples, which in many instances were disrupted by the last war.

There has been much argument, pro and con, concerning the wisdom of giving men, whose sole prior experience has been in the profession of arms, such appointments as these. The American tradition is that the military shall be apart from and subservient to the civil authority. Regardless of that, almost everyone agrees that the soldiers and sailors have done exceptional work. There are no saber rattlers among those in the key spots. And they have all shown the qualities of mind, character and decision that are now necessary.

So much for individuals. How an actual military body can be used to forward our diplomatic policy is vividly described by Demaree Bess in a recent Saturday Evening Post article. Called "Our Navy in Striped Pants," it tells how our big task force in the Mediterranean has turned it into an American lake—and has done it without land bases, without straining our ties with other countries, and without getting us too deeply involved in the internal affairs of Western Europe.

The attitude that governs this mission was obliquely expressed to Mr. Bess by a chief petty officer of long experience. "In the war, every sailor was a fighter," he said. "Now they tell us we are diplomats, and it is our business to be friendly with foreigners."

This is pretty largely true—though our Mediterranean task force, like all other naval units, is always in readiness for trouble. Today, our foreign commitments are greater and more involved than ever. We are the leader of a Western bloc of large and small powers which is being cemented together in opposition to the Soviet Union's Eastern bloc. In Mr. Bess' accurate phrase, "Our Navy is the visible symbol of our participation."

This is a ticklish business, but the Navy seems to be executing it effectively and with tact. Visits to foreign ports are always arranged for well in advance. If the local authorities feel that a visit would be impolitic at any given time, it is canceled and the fleet goes somewhere else. Now and then, a government will request a visit on some particular occasion, and the task force obliges.

American officers are careful to avoid political discussions when they gather ashore with their counterparts from Italy, France, Greece and the other countries. Shop talk—the problems that are common to every navy—dominates. This makes it possible for people of all points of view to get along fairly amicably.

As Mr. Bess points out, there are times when "our Mediterranean task force is required to show a sterner aspect." A while ago, for instance, bomber and fighter planes from the carrier Midway flew over and around the principal cities of Italy. They did this for three successive days, returning to their floating base between trips. This show of American strength was, of course, of great service to an Italian government which was trying to stop the communists.

Mr. Bess sums up our naval policy in the Mediterranean in these words: . . . "first, to show Europeans that we do not intend to desert them while they are comparatively helpless; second, to treat them in the meantime as allies, not as dependents. That policy has worked well, and our naval commanders see no reason to believe that it will not work equally well in the future."

The nation recently witnessed another and somewhat different kind of military diplomacy when the Russians made their effort to drive us out of Berlin without actually going to war. A weak and vacillating American commander might have let the Russians succeed; a firebrand might have chosen a course leading to the direct consequences. General Clay, as almost everyone seems to agree, acted flawlessly. He made no threats—but he was completely firm. He made it clear, in polite language, that we would remain in Berlin unless we were pushed out by force. He won.

This concept of diplomacy through the military is a new thing to the United States—at least, on so large a scale. But it seems to be here to stay.

TELEVISION IS HERE!

Although Television has reached a high state of development, it is not yet at the stage where it is a "buy over the counter—take home" proposition . . . some engineering must be done at the location of the set to insure proper operation once it is installed. For this reason two years of constant experiment in our research laboratories at Lake Catherine have been devoted to seeking ways to improve television service in Lake county . . . we are at last sure of the feasibility of installing television sets here and offer a complete service including sales, installation and service.

At our showrooms at Lake Catherine we have a variety of sets in operation, manufactured by both Belmont Radio Corporation and Anchor Radio Corporation. Four highly-trained radio technicians are employed at the laboratory to see that your set, once installed, will function properly . . . You, too, can have television in your home for as low as . . .

Keeping Out Flowers Fresh

To keep a short-stemmed flower fresh in a slim deep vase, slit the end of the flower a little and wrap around it one end of a pipe cleaner. The pipe cleaner extending into the water acts as a wick for the flower.

Trackless Trolley

An experimental electrical trackless trolley line, 3000 feet long, was tried out in Paris in 1900. In the 1880's a German industrial firm brought out a "trolley wire bus." It was an open wagon which drew power from a cable that ran along an overhead wire. The electric trackless trolley of today is said to be a direct descendant of this ancient vehicle.

1947 Potato Crop

The 1947 production of potatoes—more than 44 million bushels—was nearly two million greater than in 1946. In both years the crops were nearly a third larger than the 1944 and 1945 crops of less than and more than 33 million bushels. These four large crops compare with an average of about 20 million bushels for the 10 years from 1936 to 1945.

York, Educational Center

York, the famous capital of the largest of English counties, has been famous for education ever since the ninth century, when one of its leading citizens, Alcuin, was tutor of the Emperor Charlemagne. Nevertheless, it was not until 1692 that the idea occurred to anyone of establishing a university for the vast area of Yorkshire.

Buoyant answer to Back Road and Boulevard

REMEMBER that rough patch of road up yonder where the ruts and ridges make a washboard seem smooth?

Recall the tiring tenseness brought on by the drum and hum of road noise and tremor even over smooth concrete highways?

Well, clock away the miles in this stunningly styled Buick — and meet up with the sweetest answer to such matters this side of cloud cruising.

"It's a ride that's soft and smooth as velvet," folks tell us. And we tell them it comes from a host of things.

It comes from the ample road-weight of a two-ton car built low and wide — and so beautifully balanced it handles light as a baton.

It comes from the leveling buoyancy of Buick's all-coil springing which puts a pillow of deeply coiled steel at each wheel to soak up the bumps and ripples.

It comes from the softness of bigger, lower-pressure tires that cushion away road tremors and roughness — from the sure-footed, swerve-free steadiness of Buick's extra wide Safety-Ride rims, widest in the industry.

And it comes in special measure from a brand-new engineering gem we call Vibra-Shielding which banishes vibration build-up.

Here for the first time you're freed from the motoring fatigue brought on by tiny tremors piling up into bigger ones. Here your miles are made moss-smooth and quiet — long journeys become mere jaunts.

So why delay knowing the most buoyant answer to any road you ever traveled?

Come visit us now. Know at first hand the distinctive styling, the flashing action, the velvety ride over highway and byway that are Buick's and Buick's alone.

Then follow your heart's desire and get your order in promptly. We'll take it in proper sequence whether or not you have a car to trade.

SOCIETY EVENTS

Dolores DeWitt, Edw. McNamara Married May 1

In an impressive all white wedding ceremony in Immaculate Conception church May 1, Dolores Annabel DeWitt, now of Round Lake Park, and Edward Andrew McNamara, State Line Road, Kenosha County exchanged nuptial vows.

The entire wedding party was attired in white with the exception of the male attendants who wore morning trousers and tails.

The church center pews were decorated with white garlands of ribbon, with each pew tied in white satin bows with tiny white baby breath. Mixed bouquets were used on the altar and an all white centerpiece was placed by the bride at the Virgin Mary's altar.

Given in marriage by her maternal uncle, William H. Readey, of Chicago, the bride was gown in traditional ivory satin. Her gown was fashioned with tight fitting bodice, long sleeves tapering to a point at the wrist, padded hipline and 2 yard train. The square neckline was trimmed with pearls and iridescent bugle beads.

Her headpiece was a square piece to match the neckline of the gown and made of same material as dress. It held in place the veil of ivory net trimmed in satin. The veil, an heirloom was 68 years old, and was made into a finger tip blusher for Miss DeWitt.

The bride carried a cascade prayer book bouquet with white orchids and lilies of the valley with streamers of white satin ribbon tied with fern and baby breath. The center aisle was covered with white carpeting.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 10 a.m. by the Rev. Father Daniel Murray and the Rev. Father Leonard, Benet Lake, Wis., was guest priest.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Clarence De Witt and the late Capt. De Witt, and is well known in both Antioch and Kenosha. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McNamara, formerly of Kenosha County.

Music at the ceremony was provided by a former music teacher of the bride, Sister Bernita, who was assisted by Sister Carmelite.

Her bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Sally McNamara of Milwaukee and another school friend of the bride, Donna Perrin, Chicago. The gowns were identical, white marquisette in a Scarlet O'Hara design. The maid of honor wore an aqua net bonnet and aqua elbow length gloves. She carried a large bouquet of talisman roses tied with wide aqua satin ribbon. The bridesmaids' accessories were the same, only in fuchsia and carried bouquets of American Beauty roses identical in design of the maid of honor.

Little Diane Jenna, niece of Mrs. DeWitt, was flower girl and dressed in long white imported organza over white satin. She wore an open crown white poke bonnet and carried a tiny colonial bouquet of tiny American Beauty roses.

Master Robert Jenna, brother of Diane, wearing white satin suit and tails was ring bearer along with Master Jerome Klinkowitz, nephew of the groom who too was dressed in identical white satin and was the other ring bearer.

The best man is a life long friend of the groom's, Joseph Carney, of Wadsworth. Ushers were George Niemann of Chicago, nephew of Mrs. DeWitt, and Jerry Carney, brother of Joseph.

The bride's mother wore a white suit with aqua accessories, toast colored shoes and bag, and panama hat with toast veiling. Her corsage was aqua tinted orchids tied with toast color velvet ribbon. SHORT STORY

Prove Your Love

By HANK McCALL

JIM WEEKS took his spite out on his car and moaned, "With all the girls in this town to pick from, I get engaged to the one with the wildest ideas."

He had dashed out of Jane Blake's house two minutes before without kissing her good-night. They were in love, they were engaged, they wanted to get married, their parents liked the match; in short, everything was perfect except Janie's crazy notions. A doubting, brooding mood had possessed her all evening. His trouble started when he rashly promised to do anything to prove his love.

Janie laughed but said seriously, "Jim, I'm going to give you a chance to prove that promise. We aren't going to get married until you get us an apartment to live in."

"Apartment? Why, Janie, you know we can't get an apartment in this town. Besides, we get the third floor of Dad's house."

"No, Jim. No apartment, no wedding."

The next morning Jim came to work a gruff, bitter young man. He ate lunch with Bud Hoven, an old friend in the engineering department. The usually quiet Bud was in high spirits.

"Jim, open your ears and listen to some good news. I'm going to production school in Chicago two weeks from today. The company pays all expenses, even for the wives. Betty and I will lock up our apartment and prepare to enjoy a free four-week vacation."

"Lock up your apartment? Bud, listen to me," pleaded Jim. He explained his predicament while Bud listened sympathetically. Jim easily persuaded him to sign over his apartment.

THOSE days were a whirlwind of frantic activity. The attendants' gowns had to be ordered, the arrangements for the reception and dinner had to be made, and all the thousand other things that go with a wedding had to be settled in one short week. The time between the nuptials and Bud's departure was to be spent in honeymoon.

The day of the rehearsal found all details carefully assigned. The practice went smoothly until Bud beckoned Jim aside. "I don't know how to say this, Jim, but the company has changed its mind. I was transferred to next month's class."

A squadron of bombers wouldn't have made the roar that Jim's dream boats did as they crashed into the rocks. He had one idea to get across. "Don't tell Janie, Bud. We can't call off the wedding now. I'll find a place tomorrow if I have to buy a hotel."

HE SAID goodnight to Janie early and headed home. As he was waiting at a stoplight a paper boy thrust the weekly edition of the newspaper into his window. He had no choice but to buy it.

Remembering that this edition carried the next morning's want ads he turned to the last pages. His eye searched for the "Apartments for Rent" section, stopped, and then danced. His hands shook so hard that he could hardly discern the print. There it was, a thousand to one chance, but it was there.

"APARTMENT FOR RENT. CALL 7883 AFTER SEVEN A. M. DO NOT DISQUALIFY YOURSELF BY CALLING BEFORE SEVEN."

The morning light had scarcely appeared before Jim was heading for the apartment address. He found the street and the house, parked his car and ran up the steps to the porch.

He was startled when a voice called, "Jim, you're a little late." A girl sat in the corner, quietly waiting for the landlord.

Janie was laughing when she kissed him. "Don't be so shocked. Betty tipped me off to your little scheme. You don't think that I'd give up the wedding now, do you? I saw this advertisement in the paper last night, looked up the number, and got here first. It's my apartment but you can pay the first month's rent."

"ONE BALL AND CHAIN TO GET RID OF"

LIBRARY NEWS—

Outstanding among the novels of the past year, "Red Plush" was presented to the Antioch Township Library in memory of Mrs. Lee Hinderlong. This tranquil chronicle of the Moorhouse family was written by Guy McCrone, who skillfully writes of life in Victorian Glasgow, Scotland, and prewar Vienna.

"Folk Song: U. S. A." was collected by John A. and Alan Lomax, who are the foremost authorities on the American ballad and folk song.

For more than half a century they have traveled over this country to hear lumberjacks, Ozark grandmothers, banjo pickers, and hoedown fiddlers give out with the songs and provide the salty tales of American folklore. Accomplished musicians have provided banjo and piano scores for these gay and lusty ballads: "Folk Song: U. S. A." was presented to the library in memory of Mrs. C. E. Herman.

Preventing Shrinkage

Good precaution against shrinkage is to dampen and press woven cotton goods before making a dress. To do this, spread the goods on an ironing board and sponge a small section at a time. This is better than washing, which would remove the finish and make the cloth hard to work with.

SHORT STORY

That Smelly Old Pipe

By FRANCES DAVIDS

WITH the air of a deeply wounded man, Henry Little put on his coat and hat and stalked out of the house, slamming the door. He could take slurs on his person, but there was one thing on which he drew the line. He couldn't take insults to that faithful old companion, that sympathetic friend, that trusted comforter and unfailing cheer-upper, his pipe.

Up to now Sarah's hints hadn't bothered him, but this morning she had ceased to hint. "How long," she had demanded tartly, "am I going to have to stand it?"

Henry's small, buttony brown eyes behind the pale plastic-rimmed spectacles were reading headlines with interest. "Bandit Holds Up Another Local Store." Well, well. The police still hadn't caught the fellow, and this was the third holdup he had pulled.

"... and when I saw that hole in the rug, I wanted to scream."

"What?" he asked guiltily, conscious that he had heard only part of Sarah's remarks.

"I said," she repeated exasperatedly, "I found a hole in the rug and ashes all over the sofa last night. Now, what are you going to do about it?"

"Me? Why, er—nothing, I guess," he said lamely.

"You certainly are," she cried angrily. She wagged a threatening finger. "I'm sick and tired of finding ashes all over the place. Now you get rid of that smelly old pipe, Henry Little, or I'll get rid of it for you!"

Reaching the store he unlocked the door and went in, put on his sweater and lit up his pipe. The brightly-labeled cans on the shelves, the fresh fruits and vegetables, the dairy products, the household items, all stood in their appointed places, like old friends. Today he would have to go through the stock and reprice some of the canned goods.

THE door opened and a stocky young man came in, dressed in a dark coat with the collar up about his ears and a slouch hat down over his eyes. Dressed rather warmly for such a day, Henry thought. "Yes, sir, what can I do for you?" he asked pleasantly.

"Quiet in here today, isn't it?" the man said.

"Very," Henry agreed.

"Then put up your hands, bud, and open up that cash register," the man snarled, leveling a gun at Henry.

Henry almost fainted with surprise and shock. His knees rattled against each other, and he was powerless to move. "Come on, hurry up," the man said brusquely. The roof of Henry's mouth was so dry and parched he thought he would choke. What should he do? He couldn't fight with the man, who was younger and stronger—and besides, there was that ominous gun pointed at him.

With this terrible predicament facing him, he somehow noted that on the shelf a little beyond the bandit a can of pineapple juice was balanced precariously on another can and almost looked like it was going to fall. Henry watched it hopefully, and a wild, crazy idea formed in his mind.

Crash! The can fell to the floor, startling the thief so that he made an instinctive half-turn, and as he did so, Henry pulled out the pipe from his pocket and stuck it in the man's back. "Now put your hands up," he said hoarsely, and with as much menace as he could muster. The gun fell to the ground with a thud and Henry dragged it over with his foot and picked it up. "Go out the door and into the store next door," he ordered, his hand trembling. In the barber shop next door he told the astounded barber to call the police. . . .

It was on the front page of the Evening Clarion:

"LOCAL MERCHANT FOILS BANDIT; USES PIPE AS GUN."

All evening long people kept calling and telephoning to congratulate Henry, and late that night he sank gratefully onto the sofa and took out his pipe. Sarah, who had just come in, sniffed disapprovingly. "Henry, I—"

"Let me light it for you, dear," she said sweetly.

British Flood U.S. Car Market With New Autos

NEW YORK.—The British are invading America again—this time with automobiles.

At least nine British manufacturers offer immediate delivery on cars selling from $1,500 to $150,000. In addition, a half dozen French and Italian makes are offered in small numbers.

Never before have the British come into the American market with such high hopes of gaining coveted dollars. Never before have they had such an opportunity to go home with a comparatively fat pocketbook.

The latest bidder is Sir William Rootes with the Hillman Minx. Rootes introduced his 40 horsepower car to America in the ballroom of a swank hotel facing Central park. Sir William said dealers from 39 states had made inquiries. His car sells for between $1,800 and $2,000.

Build Dealer Organization
The Austin Motor Company with a 40 horsepower car selling for as low as $1,500, entered the American field and built up an organization of 90 dealers.

The British affiliate of the American Ford Motor Company also is entering the United States with a low horsepower, low mileage car selling at about the same price as its American cousin.

In addition to these three popular priced cars, the British are exporting the Rolls Royce, Bentley, M. G., Standard, Jaquard and Daimler. Some of these are the familiar handmade, gold plated jobs with solid gold prices.

American motorists are attracted to British automobiles for the same reason American GIs were attracted to British girls during the war. There isn't anything a British car hasn't got that an American car doesn't have. But the British car has it here.

Hope to Gather Dollars

Before the long waiting lists for American makes get back to normal, British manufacturers hope to woo away many millions of dollars. Britain needs the dollars with special urgency now on the eve of the beginning of the Marshall plan aid.

Austin says it is shipping 1,000 cars a month to American dealers. Henry Ford II said British Ford would ship 6,000 cars to the United States.

The acceleration of shipment is dramatic. The United States department of commerce reported England exported 930 automobiles during all of 1947 to the United States. In one month this year, total expanded to 4,250.

New-Born Babies Make Adults Look Like Pampered Sissies

CHICAGO.—New-born babies are tiny but tough, and in many ways, make adults stack up like sissies.

Dr. Clement Andrew Smith, assistant professor of pediatrics at Harvard Medical school, listed these among baby's strong points:

Babies have been known to go five, ten and even as long as fourteen minutes without breathing immediately after birth.

The body temperatures of babies exposed to chilling or covered by too many blankets have ranged from less than 90 to 102 degrees.

These changes in internal temperature will not do the baby any particular good, but on the other hand neither do they signify as much harm as they might in an adult, he said.

Babies apparently have more water in their bodies at birth than after. For this reason it is sometimes considered wise not to feed them for two to five days after birth. This is especially true of premature infants.

Baby also has disadvantages, too, the first being his small size. A baby has proportionately a much larger surface area than an adult. This causes a heavy loss of body heat. To make up for this an infant must breathe faster and his heart beats faster.

Doctors Report Radioactive Arsenic Used for Cancer

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—The first use of radioactive arsenic for cancer was reported to the American Association for Cancer Research.

This arsenic is made in an atomic energy furnace at the Argonne laboratory near Chicago. It is used on human leukemia and Hodgkins disease, both incurable forms of cancer.

The report was made by Drs. William Neal, Leon O. Jacobson, Austin M. Brues, Howard Ducoff, Robert Straube and Thomas Kelley of the Argonne and the University of Chicago department of medicine.

Arsenic is one of the old remedies for both diseases. It never cured. Nor was it known why the arsenic was beneficial.

The new form, known as Arsenic 78, emitting strong radioactive rays, is used for two purposes. One is to try to learn why arsenic is beneficial. The other is to find out whether this new form may be more useful for people with the diseases.

Lake County Crow Club Will Have Annual Shoot As Guests of President

The Eighth annual shoot of the Lake County Crow Club will be held on Saturday, June 5, from day-break till dark, with the usual picnic luncheon at the outdoor grill of president, Louis E. Leverone at 12 to 1:30 p. m., at his estate on the east bank of the Des Plaines River, on the south side of Route 22, about one half mile east of the town of Half Day.

Crows and woodchucks will each count one point and five points will be scored for a horned owl. 25 pts. will be credited for a fox, again this year. Last year the shoot was won by Otto Nelson of Senn High school, with one red fox and 20 crows. As usual, the State Department of Conservation will award a prize of 25 pheasants, to be released on grounds of the winner's designation.

On May 22, a special seniors' shoot was held for old members, in the Antioch territory, at which J. Milton Coulter, secretary of the club, nosed out former champion, Ernest C. Gilroy, Jr., of Lake Forest, by a small margin. Participating was Robert S. Dickens, Jr., of Glenview High school, who won the state crow calling championship and second in the national.

New hunters desiring to participate should contact Secretary Coulter at Central 7540 in Chicago or in the evening at Glencoe 2156. The Club has extra crow calls to loan to hunters needing them.

Jailed for Drunken Driving
Fred Riza, 30, Antioch, was given a 90-day term in the Kenosha county jail this week in default of a $100 fine and costs after he was found guilty by Municipal Judge Edward J. Ruetz on a charge of drunken driving.

Kathleen Fields Graduates
Kathleen Fields, daughter of Mrs. J. B. Fields, Antioch, is one of 176 candidates for the bachelor of science degree in education at Illinois State Normal University at the June 7 commencement.

Observes Ninetieth Birthday
Mrs. Mary Parks, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Baethke on Parkway, observed her ninetieth birthday anniversary yesterday.

Parker Hazen, of Oak Park, was calling on friends in Antioch Monday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Behler and Miss Pearl Herron, of Woodstock, were guests of the Gaston family Sunday.

Is there really a "key"
to security?

That's not just literary license.

There is a key, and you can see it on the face of every greenback issued by Uncle Sam.

Take out a dollar bill—or a hundred-dollar bill, if you have one. You'll see the key near the bottom of the little colored seal.

Enough of these keys in your possession and you can open all the doors to future happiness for yourself and family.

How to be a key-saver

Thousands of Americans have found the easiest, safest way in the world to save money, to make it grow—with United States Security Bonds.

Many of them are building a fund for the future through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Those not on a payroll are taking advantage of America's Best Buy through the Bond-A-Month Plan at their bank.

Are you one of these people? Or will your future security be locked behind the door of neglect?

STABILIZES ECONOMY... What's more, every Bond you buy does its part to keep economy strong. Wise saving means more sensible spending. Fewer dollars go to market to bid up prices on scarce goods.

America's Security is Your Security!

Methodist Wesley Circle Adopts German Family

The Methodist Wesley Circle has adopted a family of five in Berlin as the object of their aid during the year. They will send four boxes of supplies and clothing.

A letter from Mrs. Elsie Huebener, the wife and mother in the family to Mrs. C. P. Tossey, 388 Lake St., said:

"Many thanks for your letter. I am answering at once as you wish and think it ever so kind of you that you want to help us. Let me tell you something of my family . . .

My father was a Methodist minister and my mother was British. Father was several years in London where I went to school. He, too, used to write for the Apologetic and several other Christian papers in America. His name was Stephen von Bohr; perhaps you remember having read something from him. Both mother and father died before the war.

Since 1926 I am married. My husband lost his job after the war and now goes as working man repairing electrical things and making keys. I have three children, not two. My eldest son, Joe, is 20 years old, has just last year finished high school and is now in a large firm to do practical work for six months. He would like to be an engineer and we will try to let him go to college. Of course he belongs to our church and to the young people's meetings. Our daughter, Hella, 16 years, still goes to school, is a teacher in Sunday school, goes to church, choir and young people's meetings.

Peter, the youngest, 10 years old, goes to school and Sunday school. I, myself, work too. You must understand the circumstances in Germany are not as they used to be. Between working and looking after the family we have to try to get something from country to eat. For instance, potatoes are not to be had, but if you want to go by train, you need papers, you only get for special business journeys. And if by any chance we have been able to get out, how can we come back with the things. The police take away everything. They say the Russians want it so. It is very hard indeed to live, and that is why I beg of you to send food.

The children don't get a drop of milk, very little fat, well it is all such a little portion that it is not possible to live from the rations. I dare say you will have heard about the living in Germany on the whole and I am not quite sure how much I am allowed to write. Can you imagine your children always being hungry, never having a piece of chocolate or a sweet, never a drop of milk or a cup of cocoa, no tea or coffee, no never.

And yet we are able to thank the Lord that he has kept us unto this day and let my husband come home safely from Russian imprisonment. We have lost almost everything through bombs, but praise the Lord and Master that we can come to him. He has helped us wonderfully over and over again and I know he will not forget us if we don't forget him.

May God bless you for the good work you are doing. In the Fellowship of Christ, I am yours,
Elsie Huebener

Blind Vet's Keen Hearing Averts Railroad Tragedy

BEAVER FALLS, PA.—The keen hearing of a blind marine veteran is credited with averting a railroad disaster near here.

If 22-year-old Jack George hadn't detected a broken rail on the bridge spanning the Beaver river, the crack Chicago-to-New York "Admiral" of the Pennsylvania railroad could have been derailed.

Jack and his father, Griffith W. George, a conductor for the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, were sitting in their home about a block from the river.

Jack's ears, made acute by the loss of his sight four years ago on Guam, picked up the sound of the broken rail as a fast eastbound train crossed the span.

The father, leading his son, went to the bridge where a flashlight revealed a 12-inch break in the track. They hurried home and telephoned the Pennsylvania dispatcher, who warned all trains to slow down when approaching the bridge so they could be switched to adjoining tracks.

Girl Shooes Angry Bull For Frightened Drivers

BARNSTABLE, MASS.—A 13-year-old girl caused considerable blushing among full-grown men when a belligerent bull tied up traffic on Route 6 for a half hour. Some drivers attempted to start a roundup, but they quickly returned to their automobiles when the bull began snorting.

Cars were lined up a mile before Dolly Van Duzen, 13, rode her horse up to the bull and dismounted. Waving her arms in the bull's face, she yelled "Scat." The bull did.

Mind Wields More Control Over Dice at a Distance

NEW YORK.—The power of mind over matter is just as great at a distance of 30 feet as it is at 3 feet according to tests made at Washington college, Chestertown, Md.

In fact, at 30 feet the mind power worked a little better than close up. These experiments are part of a series originating at Duke university.

Dice-throwers try to influence the turn of the galloping dominoes. In the Duke, and other similar experiments, minds are reported showing a little influence.

When thousands of throws are averaged with people trying to think success, the averages are mathematically better than chance.

But in 708 throws, at 3 feet, the excess due to mental effort was only 39 and at 30 feet 119. The 39 is not enough to be certain, mathematically; the 119 is considered good evidence, mathematically.

The Washington college dice throwing was conducted by Dr. C. B. Nash and Miss Alice Richards. Forty-eight students used their mind powers on the dice. There was no hand throwing. A string was pulled to tip over a box containing the dice, which then rolled down an incline and across a flat to bounce against a conventional dice backstop.

Husband Sends Money to Wife by Carrier Pigeon

DETROIT.—Joe Andanowski sent $20 of his pay home by carrier pigeon.

Andanowski's wife, Grace, told him at the breakfast table she needed cash for groceries, and the factory worker, too, was a little short-changed on the morning of pay day.

"But I'll fix that, honey," he told her. "As soon as I get to work I'll send the money right to you."

Andanowski then left for the plant, first stopping at his pigeon rookery and picking an honest-looking bird to tuck under his overcoat.

When he got his pay, he carefully taped a $20 bill to the leg of the pigeon and sent it flying home. About 45 minutes later, Mrs. Andanowski reported, she heard a commotion in the rookery behind their home.

She had to examine many of the 60-odd birds before she found the one entrusted with the big bill.

"You could have knocked me over with a feather," she exclaimed. "I thought Joe was only sending me a dollar."

Racketeer Waves at Auto Of Pals; Goes to Jail, Too

PHILADELPHIA.—Detective John Moros arrested two numbers racket suspects and instructed them to drive their automobile to the city hall.

En route a man stepped into the street waving frantically for the automobile to stop and Moros ordered the driver to halt. The man walked up and handed the startled Moros a bag. It contained slips for 180 numbers "plays."

Moros ordered the bag bearer into the car and proceeded to the city hall with three suspects instead of two.

Conservation Courses Provided for Teachers In School at Woodstock

State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Vernon L. Nickell, announced today that 35 counties will provide courses in conservation education for teachers this summer through the extension services of the University of Illinois and five of the state colleges. This is double the number of courses offered during the summer of 1947. This area will be cared for by sessions at Woodstock Aug. 9-13.

Designed to arouse an awareness of the problem of conservation and to furnish teachers with the materials, knowledge and skills for teaching conservation in both urban and rural school systems, the program was started in the spring of 1946 at the suggestion of Mr. Nickell. The program has grown each year as a result of cooperation between groups interested in conserving and restoring the natural resources of the state. Enrollments last summer ranged from 20 to 60 per class.

Courses offered are from one to three weeks in length, and at least one hour of college credit is given to each student completing the course. Any teacher or student of college level, any graduate of a recognized four year high school, or any in-service teacher may enroll. As a general rule morning sessions consist of lectures and afternoon sessions of field trips. Wherever possible local groups and individuals participate in the instruction. These include county farm advisors and county soil conservation district officers.

Fishing Through Ice

Conventional line used by ice fishermen is made of enameled silk. Uncoated silk, cotton and linen lines absorb so much water that they freeze to the ice. A shortage in enameled lines caused many fishermen last winter to experiment with nylon monofilament. They found that, wet or dry, this material slid easily over the ice, and did not freeze to the ice or to the fishermen's gloves.

Rare Heron Added to Zoo

An Egyptian shoe-bill heron, a member of the stork family, has been added to the San Diego zoo. The birds are distinguished by their huge armored beaks, more than a foot in length and five inches wide, which resembles a large clam-shaped wooden shoe. These birds are difficult to capture and are found only in the swampy upper regions of the White Nile.

Diabetes Hereditary

Diabetes is most likely to occur in persons who have diabetic relatives. The disease strikes most often in middle and old age, and more women than men get it. The highest diabetes mortality is among the better-off classes, and he lowest among workers doing hard manual work.

Dates Changed for 4-H Lamb Show in Chicago; Prairie View Has Entry

The date for the Chicago Junior Market Lamb show and sale, which had been scheduled for Friday, June 18, has been changed to Thursday, June 24, show officials announce.

The change was made necessary by a conflict with a meeting of Illinois Vocational Agricultural Club leaders at Urbana which has been scheduled for June 18. Entries for the show will close the Monday preceding the event, June 21.

The contest is open to all farm boys and girls engaged in 4-H or vocational agricultural work and is designed to assist them in becoming successful producers of quality market lambs. Premium lists may be obtained by addressing the show headquarters, Room 118 Exchange Building, Chicago Union Stock Yards.

Classes for the show will include pens of three, five and ten lambs as well as individual lambs. Many cash prizes are offered by the Union Stock Yard and Transit Company, sponsors of the show, and several sheep breed associations have subscribed special money to the winners of their respective breeds.

The Pillsbury trophy for the best lamb and a prize of $10.00 for the best pen of three, offered by Pillsbury for agricultural achievement, are again included on the premium list. A Chicago radio station has offered $25.00 U. S. Saving bonds to the top winners of each of the four classes of the show.

A sheep shearing contest will climax the event in the afternoon, and the winner will receive an electric shearer. Other prizes are offered by Sheep Breeder Magazine.

Top Lambs will be auctioned in the show ring in the afternoon to buyers representing Chicago night clubs and hotels.

Elmer Dobner, of Prairie View is the first Lake county entry. He will show both an individual lamb and a pen of three Shropshire lambs in the classes of the competition. J. D. Allen, Elia Township High school, is his instructor.
